A Fine Romance WINTER2010

Claire Barker's 2010 winter collection brings radiant romantic light to winter's gloom – painting out dull winter palettes with hopeful, vibrant shades inspired by the 1965 classic film Dr Zhivago. 'A Song for Lara,' is infused with Parisian joie de vivre as reflected in the clothes of Zhivago's Tanya.

The collection references the scene where, on Tanya's return to Moscow from the City of Lights, her luminous light coral coat and hat transform the endlessly grey Moscow streetscape. Designer Claire Barker says; "I wanted to create a range with that same hauntingly wonderful impact, so that a woman wearing my designs for this season will feel she is transforming the winter streets.

"I want women to feel beautiful and sexy when they wear a Claire Barker design. I want my customers to celebrate their individuality and beauty without ever feeling overstated or uncomfortable. I never indulge myself to design for design's sake. I would never create something that I wouldn't feel beautiful wearing myself."
